

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

NOTES AND NEWS

AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION

The manuscript of volume I. of the Annual Report for 1910 has been sent to the Government Printing Office. The second volume, consisting of correspondence of Robert Toombs, Alexander H. Stephens and Howell Cobb, edited by Professor U. B. Phillips for the Historical Manuscripts Commission, is nearly ready. The Annual Report for 1909 has been read in page proof. The second volume of that for 1908 will shortly be issued, bound in two parts.

The association's Handbook has been issued to the members. The list of names of members is now accompanied by indications of their special lines of interest.

Both the Adams prize essay for 1909, Dr. Notestein's History of English Witchcraft, and the Winsor prize essay for 1910, Professor E. R. Turner's The Negro in Pennsylvania, are now in press and will be distributed to subscribers in the autumn.

The Report of the Committee of Five upon history in secondary schools, of the nature of a review of the Report of the Committee of Seven, published in 1899, has now been issued by the Macmillan Company in the form of a small book of 69 pages.

In the Original Narratives series Messrs. Scribner expect to issue in the autumn Narratives of Early Pennsylvania, Delaware, and West Jersey, edited by Dr. Albert Cook Myers. The next volume will be the Journal of Dankers and Sluyter, in revised translation, edited by Rev. B. B. James of Baltimore.

By typographical error the name of Miss Lucy M. Salmon, professor in Vassar College, was omitted from the list of the General Committee on page 475 of the last number of this journal. To the Committee upon the Certification of High School Teachers of History the name of Superintendent Charles E. Chadsey should now be added.

PERSONAL

Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson died at Cambridge on May 9 at the age of 87. His historical books for young people, his Larger History of the United States (1885), his English History for Americans (1893), his Massachusetts in the Army and Navy, 1861-1865 (1895, 1896), and his Life of Stephen Higginson (1907), were the only professed historical books in his long series of literary publications; but perhaps quite as important to history as any of them was his Army Life in a Black Regiment (1869), which chronicled the unique and stirring experiences of his colonelcy.

Professor Frederick W. Moore of Vanderbilt University died at Denver in the latter part of April, at the age of forty-seven. He had been connected with the faculty of Vanderbilt University since 1892, and had been a useful and influential teacher and an interested investigator of many problems in Southern history.

Professors Henry E. Bourne, Frank H. Hodder, Albert B. White, and Carlton H. Hayes will teach during the summer sessions at the University of Chicago, Professors John S. Bassett and Edward B. Krehbiel and Dr. James Sullivan at Columbia University, and Professor James W. Thompson at the University of Wisconsin.

Dr. William E. Lunt of Wisconsin has been appointed professor of history and political science at Bowdoin College, to which Mr. O. C. Hormell of Clark College goes as assistant professor.

Mr. H. W. V. Temperley of Peterhouse, Cambridge, will lecture at Harvard University on modern English history during the first half of the coming academic year.

Dr. Sydney Knox Mitchell has been promoted to an assistant professorship of history in Yale University.

Dr. Robert Livingston Schuyler has been appointed an assistant professor in the department of history at Columbia University.

At the University of Michigan the two departments of history have been united under the headship of Professor Van Tyne. Professor Ulrich B. Phillips has been called to the professorship vacated by Professor Paxson a year ago, and Dr. Edward R. Turner of Bryn Mawr College has been elected a professor of history to take the place made vacant by the retirement of Professor Richard Hudson. Dr. A. L. Cross has been advanced from a junior professorship to a professorship of English history.

Mrs. Lois Kimball Mathews of Wellesley College has been elected associate professor of American history and dean of women at the University of Wisconsin.

Professor St. George L. Sioussat has accepted a call from the University of the South to Vanderbilt University to take the chair of history made vacant by the death of Professor Frederick W. Moore.

Professor Edgar E. Robinson of Carleton College has been elected assistant professor of history at Stanford University.

GENERAL

Accounts of the proceedings of the Seventeenth International Congress of Americanists, held in two sessions, at Buenos Aires in May and at the City of Mexico in September, 1910, were published in the American Anthropologist for October-December. The eighteenth congress will be held in London in September, 1912.

A New School Atlas of Modern History, by Professor Ramsay Muir of the University of Liverpool (New York, Holt, 1911, pp. xxiv, 48 plates) surpasses any other school atlas of historical geography we remember to have seen in the extent to which it manages, without obscuring any culture-details, to present along with them the physical features of the lands depicted. Besides 48 excellent photolithographic plates, containing 120 colored maps, there is a fair amount of letterpress, in which 29 zinc-engraved maps, chiefly of battles, are imbedded. America has four of the large plates, correct in almost all essentials. Great Britain is most fully treated. A larger edition, with more maps and index, is being prepared for the use of more advanced pupils.

A Catalogue of the Collection of Historical Material, New England History Teachers' Association, has been prepared by the committee upon historical material, Professor Arthur I. Andrews chairman, assisted by the senior class in library science of Simmons College, and issued in a pamphlet of 37 pages. The catalogue is also printed in the issues of the History Teachers' Magazine for April and May.

The History Teachers' Magazine for May contains a full statement of history courses in the summer schools of American universities and colleges this season.

Professor John Nichol, late of the University of Glasgow, has issued a fifth, revised edition of his Tables of European History, Literature, and Art, A. D. 200-1909, and of American History, Literature, and Art.

Moffat, Yard and Company, of New York, have published a translation of Max Nordau's recent book, under the title The Interpretation of History. The translator is M. A. Hamilton.

The management of the Vierteljahrschrift für Social- und Wirtschaftsgeschichte has issued as an appendix to IX. 1, 2, a Bibliographie der Social- und Wirtschaftsgeschichte für 1910, Juli-September.

The Columbia University Press will shortly publish Social Evolution and Political Theory, by Leonard T. Hobhouse.

The Revue du Mois of April 10 contains an interesting discussion by Charles Salamon and Gustave Lanson of "la Méthode en Histoire Littéraire".

Professor James G. Frazer of Liverpool, in his Totemism and Exogamy (London and New York, Macmillan, four volumes, 1910) makes almost as notable a contribution to the interpretation of early superstition and the understanding of early society as was made twenty years ago by his publication of The Golden Bough.

The American Economic Review, the new quarterly journal of the American Economic Association, edited by Professor Davis R. Dewey, made its beginning with the number for March, 1911. More comprehensive in its plan than any preceding American economic journal, and prepared with unusual completeness and finish, it will, we are sure, commend itself as useful in many ways to historical workers.

In an article in Science for April 14, 1911, Dr. Frederick A. Woods continues his studies in "historiometry", to use the convenient term coined by him. He studies degrees of eminence as measured by the attention paid to particular persons in compendious works of biography and criticism, and by tabulation of the adjectives employed in such articles. He urges also that the space method and the adjective method can be applied to the estimation of some historical events.

The Bulletin of the New York Public Library for April contains an extensive list of books relating to Muhammadanism.

Noteworthy articles in periodicals: E. Levasseur, La Place de l'Histoire des Faits Économiques (Revue Internationale de l'Enseignement, LXI. 2); J. Kaerst, Studien zur Entwicklung und Bedeutung der Universalgeschichtlichen Anschauung, I. (Historische Zeitschrift, CVI. 3).

ANCIENT HISTORY

The Scribners have brought out Biblical Geography and History, by Professor Charles Foster Kent of Yale.

In his Palestine and its Transformation (Houghton Mifflin Company) Mr. Ellsworth Huntington aims in particular to show the influence which geography and climatic conditions had in the development of Jewish social characteristics and consequently in preparing the way for the teachings of Christ.

Under the inspiration of Professor Ulrich Wilcken of Leipzig his pupil Dr. Kurt Fitzler has published a study of the mines and quarries of Egypt under the Ptolemies and the Roman Empire. The monograph of 158 pages includes a thorough discussion of all the types of stone and metal quarried in Egypt; the method of lease employed by the government, which is similar to that used in the case of the dams and water-rights; the labor employed; the official bureau concerned in the management of the mines; and the methods of transport of the ores and stone. There is also a short digression upon the leasing of water-rights for irrigation. The study is called Steinbrüche und Bergwerke im Ptolemäischen und Römischen Aegypten, and appears in the Leipziger Historische Abhandlungen, published by Quelle and Meyer (Leipzig, 1910).

Fascicule 44 of the Dictionnaire des Antiquités Grecques et Romaines, published by Hachette and edited by MM. Saglio and Pottier (t. IV., pt. 2, pp. 1297-1456), goes from "Sibyllae" to "Sporta", and is accompanied by a "table méthodique provisoire" for the letters A to O.

The International Law and Custom of Ancient Greece and Rome, in two volumes, by Coleman Phillipson, of the Inner Temple, bears the imprint of Macmillan.

Dr. Barclay V. Head's Historia Numorum, the standard manual of Greek numismatics, published in 1887, has now been brought out in a new and much enlarged edition taking account of the progress of the last twenty-four years in that study.

The interesting excavations carried on at Sparta in 1909, by the British School at Athens, are described in detail (pp. 157) in the Annual of the School, XV., with many figures.

The Cambridge University Press has published in the "Cambridge Archaeological and Ethnological Series" a study by F. W. Hasluck, fellow of King's College, Cambridge, entitled, Cyzicus: Being some Account of the History and Antiquities of that City, and of the District adjacent to it, with the Towns of Apollonia, etc. The author proceeds on the basis not only of the sources but of a careful examination of the territory, and aims to describe alike the ancient and the modern conditions. Cyzicus and Cyzicene institutions are dealt with in more detail, largely from the inscriptions.

The Oxford Press announces Essays on Roman History, by the late Professor H. F. Pelham, collected and edited by F. Haverfield.

Otto Petters, Heidelberg, has issued part XXXIII. of Der obergermanisch-römische Limes des Römerreiches; it is devoted to the camp of Stockstadt.

Frowde, London, publishes The Imperial Administrative System in the Ninth Century, with a revised Text of the Kletotologion of Philotheos, by J. B. Bury. The publication is no. 1 of The British Academy Supplemental Papers.

Noteworthy articles in periodicals: E. Cavaignac, Les Classes Soloniennes et la Répartition de la Richesse à Athènes (Vierteljahrsschrift für Social- und Wirtschaftsgeschichte, IX. 12); P. Wendland, Beiträge zu Athenischer Politik und Publizistik des vierten Jahrhunderts, II. Isokrates und Demosthenes (Nachrichten von der K. Gesellschaft der Wissenschaften zu Göttingen, phil.-hist. Kl., 1910, 4); G. Bloch, La Plèbe Romaine, II. (Revue Historique, May-June); Guglielmo Ferrero, The Women of the Caesars: Introductory, Woman and Marriage in Ancient Rome (Century, May); Otto Th. Schulz, Ueber die wirtschaftlichen und politischen Verhältnisse bei den Germanen zur Zeit des C. Julius Caesar (Klio, XI. 1).

EARLY CHURCH HISTORY

The Bollandist fathers have now brought out the third November volume of the Acta Sanctorum (Brussels, 1910, pp. vii, 1000), dealing with the saints of November 5, 6, 7, and 8. The second volume appeared in 1894.

The Manuel d'Archéologie Chrétienne depuis les Origines jusqu'au VIII<sup>e</sup> Siècle, prepared by Dom H. Leclercq of Farnborough Abbey and published in Paris by Letouzey and Ané (two volumes, pp. 600, 670) with many excellent illustrations, is an authoritative survey, beginning with the study of Jewish, Mithraic, and classical influences on early Christian art, and setting forth with scholarly text and abundant references the development of Christian architecture, painting, sculpture, and minor arts.

By the combination of good psychology with good exegesis, M. Émile Lombard, in a treatise De la Glossolalie chez les premiers Chrétiens et des Phénomènes Similaires (Lausanne, Bridel, 1910, pp. xii, 254), places these striking phenomena of the apostolic age in their proper setting of comparison and explanation.

The Origin and Development of the Christian Church in Gaul during the First Six Centuries of the Christian Era (New York, Macmillan), by Canon T. Scott Holmes, D.D., is the Birkbeck lectures for 1907 and 1908 in Trinity College, Cambridge. The narrative is brought down to the conversion of the Franks and the work aims to subject the legends of the period of evangelization to exhaustive criticism.

Noteworthy articles in periodicals: E. de Faye, De la Formation d'une Doctrine Chrétienne de Dieu au II<sup>e</sup> Siècle (Revue de l'Histoire des Religions, January-February).

MEDIEVAL HISTORY

A society has been formed recently at Paris for the photographic reproduction of the most important medieval manuscripts, especially those noteworthy for pictorial adornment. The first undertaking will be the entire reproduction of a Bible Moralisée of the thirteenth century, adorned with 5000 medallions of scenes from the Scriptures.

The Macmillan Company has recently published A History of Education during the Middle Ages and the Transition to Modern Times, by Frank Pierrepont Graves of Ohio State University. It is a continuation of the author's History of Education before the Middle Ages.

Chatto and Windus have published in the series "The King's Classics", edited by Professor I. Gollancz, The English Correspondence of Saint Boniface, containing the letters exchanged between the Apostle of the Germans and his English friends, translated and edited by Edward Kyrle.

Heft 22 of the Leipziger Historische Abhandlungen is Dr. Walther Müller's Zur Frage des Ursprungs der mittelalterlichen Zünfte: Eine wirtschafts- und verfassungsgeschichtliche Untersuchung (Leipzig, Quelle and Meyer, 1911, pp. 92). The essay is the author's doctoral dissertation at the University of Leipzig, the investigation being pursued under the direction of Professors Seeliger and Doren. It aims to throw light on the origins not only of the Zünfte but of the medieval Stadtverfassung, especially with reference to the relations of these developments to medieval Grundherrschaft.

Recent additions to the Medieval Town Series (London, J. M. Dent and Sons) are Lucca by Janet Ross, and Avignon by Thomas Okey.

Heft 152 of Schmoller and Sering's Staats- und Sozialwissenschaftliche Forschungen (Leipzig, Duncker and Humblot, 1910, pp. ix, 236) is Der Geldhandel der deutschen Juden während des Mittelalters bis zum

Jahre 1350, by Moses Hoffmann. It seems to be of unusual interest from the fact that it represents the first adequate effort to utilize on this subject material in the Hebrew tongue. Of interest also in this field is the recent publication of W. Sombart, Die Juden und das Wirtschaftsleben (Leipzig, Duncker and Humblot, 1911).

Dr. Peter Wolff's dissertation on Der Briefsteller des Thymo von Erfurt und seine Ableitungen (Bonn, 1911) contains not only a careful analysis of the unpublished formulary of Thymo but an investigation of other related collections of the fourteenth century. Dr. Wolff makes much freer use of manuscript material than is usual in German doctoral dissertations.

Noteworthy articles in periodicals: P. Allard, Les Origines du Servage, II. (Revue des Questions Historiques, April); S. Rietschel, Die Münzrechnung der Lex Salica (Vierteljahrschrift für Social- und Wirtschaftsgeschichte, IX. 12); G. Falco, I Preliminari della Pace di S. Germano, Novembre 1229-Luglio 1230 (Archivio della R. Società Romana di Storia Patria, XXXIII. 3-4); F. Van Ortoy, Pierre Ferrand O. P. et les premiers Biographes de S. Dominique (Analecta Bollandiana, XXX. 1).

MODERN EUROPEAN HISTORY

Mgr. N. Paulus has gathered together in a volume, Hexenwahn und Hexenprozess vornehmlich im 16. Jahrhundert (Freiburg i. B., Herder, 1910, pp. 283) a number of interesting and solid studies in the history of witchcraft. One is devoted to Geiler of Kaisersberg, several to the ideas and conduct in respect to sorcery of Luther and the Lutherans, Zwinglians, and Calvinists, one to the supposed pre-eminence of woman in witchcraft, two to the history of witchcraft in the milder atmosphere of Rome.

Mr. B. J. Kidd's Documents Illustrative of the Continental Reformation (Oxford University Press, 1911, pp. 764) is a collection of a sort to be welcomed by many teachers.

Father Pierre Suau's Histoire de S. François de Borgia (Paris, Beauchesne, 1910, pp. 592) takes rank immediately as the chief life of the third general of the Jesuits.

Students of the history of the Council of Trent will be grateful for volume XVIII., fasc. 5, of the Nouvelles Archives des Missions Scientifiques (pp. 364), in which M. G. Constant studies and lists the documents in the Vienna Staatsarchiv and in the archives of Simancas concerning the diplomatic history of the Council under Pius IV., and especially its relations with France.

Heft 25 of the Abhandlungen zur mittleren und neueren Geschichte (G. v. Below, H. Finke, F. Meinecke) is Dr. A. F. Raif's Die Urteile der Deutschen über die Französische Nationalität im Zeitalter der Revolution und der deutschen Erhebung (pp. vii, 150).

Professor K. Th. Heigel's excellent little Politische Hauptströmungen in Europa im 19. Jahrhundert and Professor Th. Bitterauf's Napoleon I. have both advanced to second editions (Leipzig, Teubner).

Noteworthy articles in periodicals: H. C. Diferee, Die Oekonomische Verwicklung zwischen England und den Niederlanden im 17. Jahrhundert (Vierteljahrschrift für Social- und Wirtschaftsgeschichte, IX. 12); A. Auzoux, Une Campagne sur les Côtes de l'Inde au Début de la Révolution, 1791-1792 (Revue des Questions Historiques, April); G. K. Anton, Leopold II. und die Entwicklung des Kongostaates: Ein historisch-psychologischer Versuch (Jahrbuch für Gesetzgebung, XXXV. 1).

GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND

Messrs. Constable announce ten or twelve new volumes in the Victoria History of the Counties of England for 1911, including the fourth and fifth (final) volumes of Hampshire, the third and fourth (final) of Surrey, the fourth, fifth, and sixth (final) of Lancashire, the third of Bedfordshire, the second of Somerset, and the second of Yorkshire.

New historical books announced for the Cambridge Manuals of Science and Literature are: An Historical Account of the Rise and Development of Presbyterianism in Scotland, by Lord Balfour of Burleigh; The Dominion of New Zealand, by Sir R. Stout, chief justice of New Zealand; King Arthur in History and Legend, by Professor W. Lewis Jones; and Life in the Medieval Universities, by R. S. Tait. In connection with the tercentenary of the Authorized Version the Cambridge University Press will publish in this series a History of the English Bible by Dr. John Brown.

A useful volume appears among the spring announcements of Routledge: An Introduction to the Study of Local History and Antiquities, by J. E. Morris and Humphrey Jordan. Dr. Morris is assistant master of Bedford grammar school and the work is the outcome of the 1908 circular of the Board of Education on the Teaching of History in Schools. The general arrangement is chronological and the volume is copiously illustrated with small photographs.

Dr. J. Armitage Robinson, in his life of Gilbert Crispin, Abbot of Westminster (Cambridge University Press), studies the history of the abbey under the early Norman rule, the previous life of his subject at Bec, and his literary remains, edits intact for the first time the life of Gilbert by Heerluin, and prints early charters of Westminster and of St. John's abbey, Colchester.

John Lane has brought out The Speakers of the House of Commons from the earliest Times to the present Day, by A. I. Dasent. The book, besides its historical text, contains a portrait, so far as one is known to exist, of every speaker. There are also notes on the illustrations by John Lane.

The Selden Society is about to issue Select Cases in the Star Chamber, vol. II., 1509-1544, edited by Mr. I. S. Leadam.

The Utopia of Sir Thomas More (London, Bell, 1910) edited by Mr. George Sampson, includes an historical introduction, the Latin text of 1516, Ralph Robinson's second translation, 1556, Roper's Life of More, and the letters that passed between More in the Tower and his daughter Margaret Roper. An edition of More's correspondence is in course of preparation by M. Delcourt of the University of Montpellier.

Macmillans announce the publication of volume III. of Dr. James Gairdner's Lollardy and the Reformation in England, to cover the reign of Edward VI. The volume will be prefaced by a reply to some criticisms of its predecessors.

The University Press, Cambridge, England, will publish in the autumn a work in two volumes by Mr. Champlin Burrage entitled The Early English Dissenters in the Light of Recent Researches. The first volume will be devoted to history and criticism. The second volume will contain illustrative documents covering a period of about one hundred years.

The Cambridge University Press has published vol. III. of J. Bass Mullinger's The University of Cambridge; it extends from the election of Buckingham to the chancellorship in 1626 to the disappearance of the last of the Platonists soon after the Restoration.

A curious and extraordinary tale in English history is told by Professor W. C. Abbott of Yale University in Colonel Thomas Blood, Crown Stealer, 1618-1680 (Yale University Press, 1911, pp. 98).

Henry Broxap's Biography of Thomas Deacon, the Manchester Non-Juror (Publications of the University of Manchester, Historical Series, New York, Longmans), besides enlarging upon the knowledge concerning Deacon (1697-1753), throws additional light on the period of his career.

Herbert and Daniel have published in two volumes a translation of Paul Thureau-Dangin's valuable work, under the title The English Catholic Revival of the Nineteenth Century, the translation being by Wilfrid Wilberforce and Daniel O'Connor.

It is announced that Mr. Lucien Wolf has undertaken a biography of the late Marquis of Ripon, on the basis of private and official papers covering his whole public career from 1849 to 1908; he will also be able to use the papers of Lord Goderich, first Marquis, who succeeded Caning as premier in 1827.

Longmans has just issued The Life of Viscount Goschen, of great political interest for the period 1863-1907; it contains important unpublished letters of Gladstone and others.

Longmans will publish in the autumn a political memoir in two volumes of the late Duke of Devonshire by Bernard Holland, one of the duke's secretaries. Considerable correspondence of interest will be inserted.

Constable, London, has published Sir William Butler: An Autobiography. Sir William Butler, who died in June, 1910, is described as writer, politician, and soldier. His life was full of variety and his memories extend from the Irish famine of 1847 to the present time. His fighting was not confined to the field of battle, and the book is largely occupied by the various controversies in which he was engaged. The chief of these grew out of his position as chief military commander in South Africa just before the Boer War (charged also with civil affairs in the absence of Sir Alfred Milner).

Messrs. Blackwood have published A Short History of Scotland, by Andrew Lang, intended to give results of the latest scholarship and to be intermediate in extent.

W. and K. Johnston announce The Lord Chancellors of Scotland, from the Institution of the Office to the Treaty of Union, in two volumes, by S. Cowan.

Several new books on Ireland are announced. The Macmillan Company have published Dr. Robert H. Murray's Revolutionary Ireland and its Settlement; Arnold will bring out The End of the Irish Parliament, by J. R. Fisher, covering the thirty years preceding the Union; the Oxford University Press, as we have mentioned, Ireland under the Normans, 1169-1216, by G. H. Orpen; and Elliot Stock has issued volume VI. of P. H. Hore's History of Wexford.

Professor Hugh E. Egerton's Federations and Unions within the British Empire (Oxford University Press, 1911, pp. 302) is a convenient volume of fundamental constitutions accompanied by documents which explain them and introduced by an historical account of the circumstances in which they arose.

The English Factories in India, 1634-1636, edited by Mr. William Foster (Oxford University Press, 1911, pp. 396), the fifth volume in this series of calendars, has just appeared.

Documentary government publications: Chronological Index of Statutes, 1235-1910; Year Book of Edward III., year 20, part II.; Calendar of State Papers, Domestic, 1677-1678; Calendar of State Papers, Colonial, 1701.

Noteworthy articles in periodicals: G. Constant, La Transformation du Culte Anglican sous Édouard VI., II. Tendances Zwingliennes et Calvinistes (Revue d'Histoire Ecclésiastique, April); J. F. Chance, George I. and Peter the Great after the Peace of Nystad (English Historical Review, April); E. Dolleaux, L'Évolution du Chartisme, 1837-1839: Du Réformisme à la Violence, I. (Revue de Synthèse Historique, XXI. 3); J. M. Anderson, The Beginnings of St. Andrews University (Scottish Historical Review, April).

FRANCE

The Société Française de Bibliographie announces that it has undertaken the publication of the following works of historical interest: Table des Mémoires du Marquis de Sourches, by M. Lecestre; Bibliographie des Traductions en Langue Française du XVI<sup>e</sup> Siècle à la fin du XVIII<sup>e</sup>, by G. Regnier; Histoire du Dépôt Légal, pt. 2, by H. Lemaitre. The preparation of the second edition of Monod's Bibliographie de l'Histoire de France is announced as advancing rapidly and the first fascicule will appear this year.

MM. Édouard Cornély announce the completion of M. Pierre Caron's Bibliographie des Travaux publiés de 1866 à 1897, sur l'Histoire de France depuis 1789, by the issue of the sections relating to economic and social and local history and the index. The whole makes a volume of nearly a thousand pages. The same firm announces the continuance of MM. Brière and Caron's Répertoire Méthodique de l'Histoire Moderne et Contemporaine de la France, which had paused at 1903. A volume containing the product of 1904, 1905, and 1906 is in the press; another will bring this useful bibliography to 1910.

January 7, 1911, the Commission Supérieure des Archives, under the presidency of Professor Aulard, held an important meeting of which an account is given in the Révolution Française of February 14. Some important additions to the Archives Nationales in the near future were indicated and various reports made as to the progress of inventories and other archival aids.

The Institut Français of Florence, the director of which is M. Lucien Luchaire, professor at the University of Grenoble, announces for publication during 1911 the following studies: Montesquieu et Machiavel, by Levi-Malvano; Un Condottiere Italien à Lyon au XVI<sup>e</sup> Siècle, by L. Caillet; Le Problème du Baptistère de Florence et les Pavements du Baptistère et de S. Miniato al Monte, by G. Soulier; Relations des Ambassadeurs Florentins à l'Époque du Concile de Pise, by M. Renaudet.

A. Rousseau, Paris, has just published volume I. of a Histoire du Commerce de la France, by E. Levasseur, intended to be complementary to the author's Histoire des Classes Ouvrières et de l'Industrie. The volume comes to 1789.

Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons published in May in the General History of Art handbooks, A History of Art in France, by M. Louis Hourticque, inspector of fine arts for the city of Paris.

The Librairie Laurens has begun the publication of a series entitled Petites Monographies des Grands Édifices de la France, under direction of M. Eugène Lefèvre-Pontalis. The volumes will be of 100 pages, illustrated, and will be the work of specialists; there have already appeared the following: Le Château de Coucy, by E. Lefèvre-Pontalis; La Cathédrale de Chartres (René Merlet); Saint-Pol-de-Leon (L. Th.

Lecureux); Le Château de Rambouillet (G. Longnon); L'Abbaye de Vézelay (Ch. Porée); L'Hotel des Invalides (L. Dimier); Le Château de Vincennes (F. de Fossa); L'Abbaye de Moissac (A. Angles). Similar monographs are in preparation for the cathedrals of Reims (L. Demaison), Lyons (M. Bégul), Auxerre (C. Enlart), Bourges (A. Bomet), and Coutances (E. Lefèvre-Pontalis).

The Société des Normands of Paris planned an extensive celebration, May 28–June 11 of this year, of the “Millénaire de la Normandie”; after a preliminary assembly at Saint-Clair-sur-Epte, there was to be an exposition at Rouen with reference to the provincial history, a congress of historical and literary conferences in that city, a pageant and other features, with corresponding fêtes at Paris. The American Historical Association was to be represented by Messrs. C. H. Haskins and W. G. Leland; at St. Dié (celebration of Waldseemüller's Cosmographiae Introductio) by its president, Professor William M. Sloane. On account of the death of the minister of war the latter celebration has been postponed to July, and the former modified.

The next issue in the Bibliothèque d'Histoire Moderne (Paris, Cornély) will be La Révolution de Février: Étude Critique, by M. Albert Crémieux. This will be followed by L'Organisation des Partis Politiques et leur Répartition Géographique en France en 1849, by M. Gaston Génique; Henri IV. et l'Europe pendant les Années 1609 et 1610, by M. Vlastimil Kybal; L'Anoblissement sous François I., by M. J. Richard-Bloch; and Les Clubs de Barbès et de Blanqui en 1828, by Mlle. Suzanne Wassermann.

The Collection de Documents Inédits sur l'Histoire Économique de la Révolution Française advances by the publication of several new volumes: t. IV. of Procès-Verbaux des Comités d'Agriculture et de Commerce, ed. Gerbaux and Schmidt; t. III. of Documents relatifs à la Vente des Biens Nationaux (Bouches-du-Rhône), ed. Moulin; t. II. of Cahiers de Doléances de la Sénéchaussée de Rennes, ed. Sée and Lesort (these three series already noticed in this journal); and a new work for dép. Cher, Cahiers de Doléance du Bailliage de Bourges, etc., ed. Gandilhon (Bourges, pp. 1, 812), with the usual method and apparatus.

M. A. Tuetey has published tome IX. of his Répertoire Général des Sources Manuscrites de l'Histoire de Paris pendant la Révolution Française; it embraces the second part of the Convention (Paris, 1910, pp. cvii, 631). The documents enumerated are of the period March–September, 1793; as with the preceding volumes the historical introduction is of great interest.

The second fascicule of A. Mathiez's Bibliothèque d'Histoire Révolutionnaire is a brief study by the editor entitled Les Conséquences Religieuses de la Journée du 10 Aout 1792: La Déportation des Prêtres et la Sécularisation de l'État Civil (Paris, E. Leroux, 1911, pp. 52). The essential documents are printed as appendix.

M. Pierre Caron has begun the publication, under the auspices of the Société d'Histoire Contemporaine (Paris, A. Picard) of a series entitled Paris pendant la Terreur: Rapports des Agents Secrets du Ministre de l'Interieur. The reports are those of the "commissaires observateurs" established in 1793 and active till April, 1794; they were daily. Some have already been published but unsatisfactorily; more than 1500 are in existence. The present series will comprise four volumes, the first covering the period August 27 to December 25, 1793.

General Zurlinden (formerly minister of war) continues his studies in the military history of the Napoleonic age with volume II. of Napoléon et ses Maréchaux, devoted to Les Maréchaux (Hachette). Other recent additions to the military history of this period are A. Chuquet's Quatre Généraux de la Révolution: Hoche et Desaix; Kléber et Marceau (Fontemoing); and Édouard Gachot's La Troisième Campagne d'Italie, 1805-1806 (Plon).

A new series has been begun by the house of H. Champion, Paris, under the title, Bibliothèque de la Révolution et de l'Empire, the first volume being entitled, Lettres de 1815: Première Série, by A. Chuquet, and the second (with the same editor), Lettres de 1812: Première Série. The contents of these volumes are of very varied character, but come mostly from the archives of the ministry of war; the first relates to the Hundred Days, the second to the Russian campaign. A similar collection by the same indefatigable worker in this field is entitled Ordres et Apostilles de Napoléon, 1799-1815.

Chatto and Windus of London have published Men and Things of My Time, by the Marquis de Castellane, the translation being by Alexander Teixeira de Mattos. The recollections of M. de Castellane begin with the Second Empire and are of considerable interest for many of the chief personalities of the second half of the nineteenth century.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs has published volume III. of the collection entitled Les Origines Diplomatiques de la Guerre de 1870-1871 (Paris, Gustave Ficker); it contains the diplomatic correspondence from May to July 31, 1864.

An interesting volume (illustrated) has been issued by Pierre Roget, Paris, Les Chroniques du Château de Fontainebleau, by Léon Deroy.

MM. Berger-Levrault of Paris and Nancy have issued the first number of the Bibliographie Lorraine: Revue du Mouvement Intellectuel, Artistique, et Économique de la Région. It is published by the faculty of letters of the University of Nancy as a section of the Annales de l'Est, which last year abandoned its quarterly form to appear instead in a section of annual bibliographical review and a section of irregular fascicule issues. The Bibliographie Lorraine assumes a special interest in view of the claim of the editors that it is "une nouveauté. C'est la première bibliographie régionale qui soit entreprise en France . . . C'est un acte de décentralisation". While the publication will be annual this first issue reviews the literature for the period 1905-1910, covering both Lorraine and Alsace.

The administration of Algeria, which has recently organized the Algerian archives, has appointed a commission for the publication of an official Collection de Documents inédits relatifs à l'Histoire Politique et Militaire et à la Colonisation de l'Algérie depuis 1830. The main element in this will be the correspondence of the commanders-in-chief of the army in Algeria and of the governors-general. The first volume will appear in 1911 and will give the documents relating to the consulate of Captain Daumas, 1837-1839. Professor Yves, one of the members of the commission entrusted with this undertaking, has recently published in no. 270 of the Revue Africaine selections from the "Documents sur la Guerre Franco-Marocaine de 1844".

Noteworthy articles in periodicals: G. Fagniez, Fancan et Richelieu, I. (Revue Historique, May-June); G. Lepreux, Une Enquête sur l'Imprimerie de Paris en 1644 (Le Bibliographe Moderne, XIV.); L. Madelin, Le Règne de la Vertu: La Dictature de Robespierre (Revue des Deux Mondes, February 15); O. Tschirch, Die Naundorff-Legende (Historische Zeitschrift, CVI. 3); L. Abensour, Le Féminisme sous la Monarchie de Juillet: les Essais de Réalisation et les Résultats (Revue d'Histoire Moderne et Contemporaine, March-April); E. Driault, La Diplomatie Française pendant la Guerre de Danemark (Revue Historique, May-June); G. Mollat, Études et Documents sur l'Histoire de Bretagne (Annales de Bretagne, XXV., XXVI.).

ITALY, SPAIN, AND PORTUGAL

Commissions appointed by the Italian government are to prepare national editions of the writings of Michelangelo and of Leonardo da Vinci. The former will include some 800 letters to Michelangelo, chiefly from the Buonarrotti archives in Florence.

The Macmillan Company announce a new version of The Life of Benvenuto Cellini by Mr. Robert H. H. Cust of Oxford, described as differing from Symonds's by a greater degree of idiomatic raciness.

Giovanni Sabini is the author of a recent book that should be of considerable interest and usefulness, I Primi Esperimenti Costituzionali in Italia, 1797-1815 (Turin, Unione tipog., 1911).

The issue of the Rivista Storica Italiana for January-March contains a general review by C. Rinaudo of the Risorgimento publications appearing in connection with the jubilee semi-centenary of the War of Independence. The ensuing issues will continue the review with reference to more special studies.

A general review of the archaeological discoveries and publications in Spain and Portugal from May, 1908, to May, 1910, is given by P. Paris in 30 pages of the Archaeologischer Anzeiger for 1910.

P. Boissonade publishes in the Revue de Synthèse Historique, XXI. 3, an important general review of studies in the economic history of Spain.

The Boletín de la Real Academia de la Historia for November, 1910, contains an interesting review by Carlos Bratli of Danish writers of the last twenty-five years upon the history of Spain. It is accompanied by a full bibliographical list of much value.

Thirty-four years separate the fortieth and forty-first volumes of the Colección de Documentos Inéditos del Archivo General de la Corona de Aragón, of which volume XLI. was issued in 1910 (Barcelona, tipografía de Benaiges, pp. xvi, 424), by the archivist Don Francisco de Bofarull y Sans. The contents are mainly the continuation (1392-1688) of a series of documents of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries dealing with Gremios and Cofradías de la Antigua Corona de Aragón. The Royal Academy of History has published vol. XIV. (1429-1430) of the Cortes de los Antiguos Reinos de Aragón y de Valencia (Madrid, Fontanet).

Noteworthy articles in periodicals: P. Negri, Le Missioni di Pandolfo Colenuccio a Papa Alessandro VI., 1494-1498 (Archivio della R. Società Romana di Storia Patria, XXXIII. 3-4); E. Rodocanachi, Le Luxe des Cardinaux Romains de la Renaissance (Revue des Questions Historiques, April); Joseph Hilgers, S. J., Bücherverbot und Bücherzensur des 16. Jahrhunderts in Italien (Zentralblatt für Bibliothekswesen, XXVIII. 3); J. A. F. Orbaan, La Roma di Sisto V. negli Arvvisi (Archivio della R. Società Romana di Storia Patria, XXXIII. 3-4).

GERMANY, AUSTRIA, AND SWITZERLAND

An important aid to investigators is furnished in Heft 16 of the Publikationen der K. Preuss. Archivverwaltung (Leipzig, 1910), being a Chronologisches Gesamtverzeichnis der Original-Ausfertigungen der Königs- und Kaiserurkunden des Königlich Preussischen Staatsarchivs und des Königlichen Hausarchivs bis 1439, prepared by Dr. Reinhard Ludicke. The total number of the documents listed is 3253 and information is furnished not only as to the place of deposit, but as to any publication that may have occurred.

Two important monographs of wide interest have appeared in the Kirchenrechtliche Abhandlungen of Stutz (Stuttgart), viz., Nationalkirchliche Bestrebungen im Deutschen Mittelalter, by A. Werminghoff (Heft 61) and Der Adel und die Deutsche Kirche im Mittelalter, by Aloys Schulte (Heft 62 and 64).

Dr. Max Jansen has added to his Studien zur Fugger-Geschichte a third Heft, dealing with Jakob Fugger der Reiche; Studien und Quellen, I. (Leipzig, Duncker and Humblot).

Methuen, London, publishes The House of Hohenzollern: Two Centuries of Berlin Court Life, by E. A. Brayley Hodgetts. It comes from Frederick I. to the close of the ministry of Bismarck and is popular in character.

The new edition of the Correspondance of Voltaire and Frederick II. in the Publikationen aus den k. preuss. Staatsarchiven has just been completed with the issuing of Part 3 of Band LXXXVI., containing the correspondence for the period 1753-1778, edited by R. Koser and H. Droysen.

A work of the highest importance to the student of military history in the Napoleonic period is Die Befreiungskriege 1813-1815, by Colonel Rudolph Friederich, chief of the historical division of the Prussian General Staff, of which volume I., Der Frühjahrsfeldzug 1813 (Berlin, Mittler, 1911, pp. xii, 328) has just been published in handsome illustrated form.

The Autobiography of Richard Wagner will soon be published simultaneously in Germany and England (Constable); it will cover the years 1813-1864 and was written by Wagner in 1868-1873, mainly from notes kept continuously from 1835. The work was originally dictated to Frau Wagner, but publication has been delayed by the family for personal reasons.

Messrs. Duckworth, London, announce The Letters and Diary of Count Charles Leiningen-Westerburg, edited (and apparently translated) by Professor Marczali. Count Leiningen was executed by Haynau in 1849 and wrote the diary in prison.

The Deutsche Rundschau for March and April, 1911, contains an extended critical summary by Field Marshal Freiherr von der Goltz of the two volumes of Denkwürdigkeiten des Prinzen Friedrich Karl (Stuttgart and Leipzig, Deutsche Verlagsanstalt, 1910). The volumes cover the period 1866-1885.

Dr. Ludwig Bernhard's Die Polenfrage: das Polnische Gemeinwesen im Preussischen Staat (Leipzig, Duncker and Humblot, 1910, pp. xvii, 620), treats a difficult and controversial subject, from 1830 to 1910, with marked impartiality as well as competence.

Professor S. Riezler has published a third revised edition of his Das Glücklicheste Jahrhundert Bayerischer Geschichte, 1806-1906 (Munich, Beck, 1910).

The Vienna Academy has published the second installment of Abtheilung I. of its Historischer Atlas der Oesterreichischen Alpenländer (Vienna, A. Holzhausen). This Abtheilung is occupied with Die Landgerichtskarte, and the new issue contains Lower Austria (edited by A. Grund and K. Giammoni), and Tyrol and Vorarlberg (edited by J. Egger and others).

Aus den Tagebüchern des Grafen Prokesch von Osten, 1830-1834 (Vienna, Reisser, pp. 252), edited by Prokesch's son, casts a flood of light on Austrian foreign policy in the period indicated, on its relations to the Rothschilds, on Metternich, and on Gentz.

Band IV. of the Geschichte der Stadt Wien, edited by Anton Mayer and published by the Alterthumsverein of Vienna, covers the period from the close of the Middle Ages to the accession of Maria Theresa (A. Holzhausen, pp. xii, 626).

Part I. of the second volume of the Salzburger Urkundenbuch, edited by Willibald Hauthaler and Franz Martin, contains 103 documents, covering the period 790-1072, accompanied by full notes.

M. Franz Heinemann, author of the Bibliographie Nationale Suisse, has published a new fascicule (V. 5) dealing with religious and ecclesiastical usages.

Noteworthy articles in periodicals: B. Hilliger, Lex Salica: Epilog und Hunderttiteltext (Historische Vierteljahrschrift, XIV. 2); Arthur C. McGiffert, Martin Luther and his Work, V., VI. (Century, April, May); V. Scherer, Fürstliche Kunstsammlungen des XVII. und XVIII. Jahrhunderts in Deutschland (Preussische Jahrbücher, March); H. Oncken, Deutschland und Oesterreich seit der Gründung des Neuen Reiches, 1871-1911 (Deutsche Rundschau, April).

NETHERLANDS AND BELGIUM

Miss Ruth Putnam has in preparation a life of William the Silent, which G. P. Putnam's Sons will publish.

The historical seminary of the University of Louvain has published separately a Rapport sur les Travaux pendant l'Année Académique 1909-1910 (Louvain, 1911, pp. 397-504 of the Annuaire of the University). This report is a detailed statement of the work submitted in the seminary, though not necessarily published or intended for publication; it will consequently be of considerable interest to those conducting such work elsewhere.

NORTHERN AND EASTERN EUROPE

The letters of Louisa Ulrica, queen of Sweden, Luise Ulrike, die Schwedische Schwester Friedrichs des Grossen: Ungedruckte Briefe an Mitglieder des Preussischen Königshauses (Gotha, Perthes, 1909, 1910, two volumes, pp. xxix, 400; xxxi, 519), edited by Dr. Fritz Arnhem, are an important source of knowledge for general as well as Swedish history, besides revealing more fully an interesting personality; but at present the publication extends only from 1729 to 1758.

Noteworthy articles in periodicals: C. Brinkmann, Die ältesten Grundbücher von Novgorod in ihrer Bedeutung für die vergleichende Wirtschafts- und Rechtsgeschichte (Vierteljahrschrift für Social- und Wirtschaftsgeschichte, IX. 12); L. Bril, Les Premiers Temps du Christianisme en Suède, II. (Revue d'Histoire Ecclésiastique, April).

THE FAR EAST AND INDIA

Noteworthy articles in periodicals: A. Grimwedel, Die politische Wirksamkeit des Buddhismus (Zeitschrift für Politik, IV. 2, 3); M. de la Mazelière, Les Institutions du Japon Moderne (Revue des Deux Mondes, March 1).

AMERICA

GENERAL ITEMS

Mr. David W. Parker's Calendar of Papers in Washington Archives relating to the Territories of the United States (to 1873), a volume of about 500 pages, calendaring nearly ten thousand documents, is published by the Carnegie Institution of Washington soon after the time of issue of the present number of this journal. At about the same time, Mr. Parker completes, so far as Ottawa is concerned, his Guide to the Materials for United States History in Canadian Archives. Professor Frederick J. Zwierlein of St. Bernard's Seminary, Rochester, has made a supplementary inspection of the archives of Quebec, for insertion in the same volume. Professor Learned's Guide to Materials for American History in German State Archives is in the printer's hands. Dr. Charles E. Fryer of McGill University will make at London the inspection, now permitted by the British government, of the Foreign Office, Privy Council, and other papers from 1837 to 1860, in order to complete for this period the volume prepared by Dr. C. O. Paullin and Professor F. L. Paxson. Professor Charles M. Andrews, while in London this summer, will carry a stage nearer to completion his Guide to the Materials for American History in the Public Record Office, of which the first volume is expected to go to press next autumn.

We are glad to note that the Albany disaster has aroused in official circles in Washington fresh interest in the problem of a safe and proper housing of the government archives in Washington, and that the proposal for an adequate National Archive Building is under active consideration by Congressional committees. The position of the American Historical Association in respect to the movement having been more than once declared, it is proper to say that those who are interested in it from the historical point of view should write to their representatives in Congress before the next session.

Among the recent important accessions of the Manuscripts Division of the Library of Congress, are the following: the papers of Senator and Secretary John Sherman; the papers of Secretary Stanton; receipts for disbursements of the last specie fund of the Confederate States of America, from M. H. Clark, acting treasurer, 1865; a body of manuscripts of Colonel George Morgan, including letters, Indian speeches, and reports, 1775-1787; the papers of General George B. McClellan, given to the library by his son, Hon. George B. McClellan; a volume of dramas in the Aztec language, 1687; additional "Pickett Papers", being the correspondence and memoranda relative to the transfer of the "Pickett Papers" to the government, additional diplomatic papers, correspondence relative to the Confederate seal, and papers left by John T. Pickett; the Andrew Jackson papers, being the main body of manuscripts left by General Jackson and not embraced in the Blair papers already in the library; additional Shaker manuscripts, including prayers, record-books, hymns, laws, and regulations of the Shaker Community in Ohio; a body of military and official letters and documents addressed to General Santa Anna, 1847; record of the proceedings of the Hague Arbitration upon the fisheries dispute (10 volumes); and miscellaneous papers of William Samuel Johnson respecting the Stamp Act Congress and the Constitutional Convention, 1765-1790.

The Albert Shaw lectures in American diplomatic history, at the Johns Hopkins University, will be given next spring by Professor Isaac J. Cox of the University of Cincinnati, whose theme will be the diplomatic movements centring around West Florida.

Volume VI., part I. (February, 1911), of the Historical Records and Studies of the United States Catholic Historical Society includes "Pierre Esprit Radisson", and "First Canadian Missionaries and the Holy Eucharist", by Rev. Thomas J. Campbell, S.J.; "Register of the Clergy laboring in the Archdiocese in New York from Early Missionary Times to 1885" (VIII.), by Archbishop Corrigan; "Claudius Clavus, the first Cartographer of America" (with illustrations), by Rev. Joseph Fischer; and "Some Catholic Names in the United States Navy List", a series of brief biographies, by John Furey, U.S.N.

The principal paper in the Records of the American Catholic Historical Society for March is by Rev. James Savage of Detroit, Michigan, on the Prehistoric Finds of Michigan. Twenty pages of the issue are occupied with the baptismal registers of Holy Trinity Church, Philadelphia, for 1793-1795, transcribed by F. X. Reuss and edited by Rev. Thomas C. Middleton.

Mr. Charles Francis Adams will bring together a number of his studies of the military strategy in the War of Independence and of the naval and diplomatic history of the Civil War, which the Macmillan Company will publish with the title Studies: Military and Diplomatic.

Mr. Hannis Taylor's work upon The Origin and Growth of the American Constitution has come from the press (Houghton Mifflin Company).

A History of the American People, in four volumes, by J. H. Patton and others, has been published in Chicago by L. W. Walter Company. There is an introductory article on "True Americanism" by former President Roosevelt.

Mr. Reuben P. Halleck's History of American Literature (New York, American Book Company, 1911, pp. 431) is a well-proportioned text-book, sensible and interesting, and without great refinement of thought or manner will introduce young pupils well to a good acquaintance with its subject.

The reminiscences of George W. Smalley, for many years European correspondent of the New York Tribune and American correspondent of the London Times, have been brought out by the Putnams with the title Anglo-American Memories.

The Journal of American History has passed into the hands of the Allaben Publishing Company of New York and London. Mr. Francis T. Miller continues as editor of the Journal.

Hon. John W. Foster's address The Foreign Wars of the United States has been reprinted from the Proceedings of the conference of the American Society for the Judicial Settlement of International Disputes held in Washington, December 15, 1910.

The same society has issued as no. 4 of its publications The Development of the American Doctrine of Jurisdiction of Courts over States (pp. 67), by Mr. Alpheus H. Snow.

Dr. Thomas Addis Emmet's Incidents of my Life, Professional, Literary, Social; with Services in the Cause of Ireland (Putnam, pp. xxx, 480), contains many passages of historical interest scattered through the book.

The Library of Congress has issued a Select List of References on Boycotts and Injunctions in Labor Disputes, compiled under the direction of H. H. B. Meyer, chief bibliographer, and twelve pages of Additional References relating to Popular Election of Senators. These references are largely to speeches of recent utterance in Congress, but include also articles in periodicals.

ITEMS ARRANGED IN CHRONOLOGICAL ORDER

Mr. Warren K. Moorehead has brought out through Houghton Mifflin Company a work in two volumes upon The Stone Age in North America, an archaeological encyclopaedia of the implements, ornaments, weapons, utensils, etc., of the prehistoric tribes of North America. The work abounds in illustrations and includes a bibliography of the subject.

The Real Captain Kidd: a Vindication, which Messrs. Duffield have published, is by Sir Cornelius Neale Dalton.

Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons have in press a work by General Francis V. Greene entitled The Revolutionary War and the Military Policy of the United States. In this volume General Greene proposes to study the Revolutionary war from a military point of view and to show how the policy was inaugurated of making a small body of trained soldiery the core of a large volunteer army. The author plans eventually to add other volumes treating the subsequent wars of the United States.

The Houghton Mifflin Company has published France in the American Revolution, by the late Hon. James Breck Perkins.

Mrs. Danske Dandridge, whose books Historic Shepherdstown and American Prisoners in the Revolution have recently appeared, is collecting material for a book which shall include biographical sketches of General Adam Stephen, General William Darke, Governor James Wood, and Robert Rutherford, and would be grateful for information concerning any of these persons. Mrs. Dandridge's address is "Rose Brake", near Shepherdstown, West Virginia.

David Zeisberger's History of the North American Indians, which was issued as a double number (January and April, 1910) of the Ohio Archaeological and Historical Quarterly (see the REVIEW for July, 1910, p. 946), has now been issued in book form as volume I. of The Moravian Records, "a series of volumes containing the more important journals, diaries and reports of the Moravian missionaries among the American Indians, 1767-1817", edited by A. B. Hulbert and W. N. Schwarze (Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society, pp. ii, 189).

Chronicles of Greater New York City during the War of 1812-1815, in two volumes, by R. S. Guernsey, has been brought out in New York by the compiler.

A brief biography of Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star-Spangled Banner", has been produced by his great-grandson, F. S. Key-Smith, and published in Washington by Key-Smith and Company.

Professor John S. Bassett's Life of Andrew Jackson will be published in early autumn (Doubleday, Page and Company).

The Northeastern Boundary Controversy and the Aroostook War, by J. F. Sprague, is published at Dover, Maine, by the Observer Press.

The United States Senate, April 28, 1911, ordered the compilation and publication of a document to contain all the proceedings of the Senate, including debates, reports, votes, etc., relating to the tariff of 1842; of another of similar material on the tariff of 1846; of another on that of 1857; and of a fourth containing the official material concerning the Canadian reciprocity treaty of 1854, and Professor Chalfant Robinson's history of it, the last being Senate Doc. no. 17, 62d Cong., 1 sess.

Harriet Beecher Stowe: the Story of her Life, by Charles Edward Stowe and Lyman Beecher Stowe, has come from the press (Houghton Mifflin Company).

The Presidential Campaign of 1860, by E. D. Fite, is announced by the Macmillan Company.

The late Rev. William H. Whitsitt, shortly before his death, brought out through the Neale Publishing Company a Genealogy of Jefferson Davis, President of the Southern Confederacy, and of Samuel Davies, President of Princeton College (pp. 67). The volume presents some new facts concerning the ancestry of Jefferson Davis.

The University of Illinois has issued The Origin of the Land Grant Act of 1862, by Professor E. J. James.

Mr. J. W. Rich's monograph The Battle of Shiloh, the publication of which in the Iowa Journal of History and Politics was chronicled in the issue of this journal for January, 1910, has now appeared in book form, bearing the imprint of the State Historical Society of Iowa (pp. 134). The work has received high commendation for its fairness and accuracy. Professor B. F. Shambaugh writes an introduction to the book.

The Wisconsin History Commission has brought out, as Original Papers no. 4, The Chattanooga Campaign, with especial reference to Wisconsin's Participation therein (pp. xiii, 255), by Colonel M. H. Fitch.

The Heroic Story of the United States Sanitary Commission, 1861-1865, by W. H. Reed, has been reprinted from the Christian Register.

A Sketch of the Life of Horace Greeley, with brief extracts from his Writings and Biographical Notes, by Jacob Erlich, has been brought out in Chappaqua, New York, by the Chappaqua Historical Society to commemorate the Greeley centenary.

Rev. Wilbur F. Crafts has prepared a volume entitled A Quarter Century of Naval Legislation in Congress, which has been published by the International Reform Bureau of Washington. The volume deals with the period 1888-1911 and includes extracts from bills, acts, and other documents relating to naval and social reforms.

The Life and Character of Edward Oliver Wolcott, late a Senator of the United States from the State of Colorado, in two volumes (pp. xi, 702; v, 803), by Thomas Fulton Dawson, is printed by the Knickerbocker Press for private circulation.

LOCAL ITEMS, ARRANGED IN GEOGRAPHICAL ORDER.

A History of the New England Fisheries, by Raymond McFarland, is published by the University of Pennsylvania and Appleton.

The governor of Maine has re-appointed Rev. Dr. Henry S. Burrage as state historian. At the close of 1910 Dr. Burrage completed the work of arranging, pressing, repairing, mounting, card-cataloguing, and binding, and thus making available for historical purposes, seventy-eight volumes of the Civil War correspondence of the governors and adjutant-generals of Maine, and by the close of the present year he expects to complete the work on the remaining eighty volumes.

The commonwealth of Massachusetts has issued volume XVII. of the Acts and Resolves of the Province of Massachusetts Bay (Boston, 1910-1911, pp. 709), containing the resolves, etc., of 1761-1764.

The Proceedings of the Massachusetts Historical Society for February contains a paper on Commerce during the Revolutionary Epoch, by Professor Edward Channing, and one by Mr. Brooks Adams on the Convention of 1800 with France, the latter an elaboration of a legal brief. The March issue contains a paper by Mr. Frank B. Sanborn on Negro Slavery in Kansas and Missouri. Both contain memoirs of deceased members of the society: E. Winchester Donald, Morton Dexter, Edward J. Young, and John Noble. As we go to press, the society issues The Diary of Cotton Mather, 1681-1708 (Collections, seventh series, volume VII., pp. xxviii, 602).

Labor Laws and their Enforcement, with special Reference to Massachusetts, by Charles E. Persons, Mabel Parton, Mabelle Moses, and three "Fellows", edited by Susan M. Kingsbury, Ph.D., is the second volume of "Studies in Economic Relations of Women", produced by the department of research of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union of Boston (Longmans, pp. xxii, 419). The first chapter of the book (129 pages) relates "The Early History of Factory Legislation in Massachusetts", 1825-1874, and is by Charles E. Persons.

The American Antiquarian Society has received from Mr. Alfred Dwight Foster of Boston the manuscript journal of Dwight Foster (1757-1823), in three volumes, covering the period 1772-1799; also five volumes of his letters, of the period 1785-1819. Foster was a member of Congress from Massachusetts from 1793 to 1799 and senator from 1800 to 1803 and held other public offices.

The fire of March 28-29 in the State Capitol of New York was to American history a disaster of the greatest importance. Probably there never has been an occasion when so much valuable American material perished. Its lessons as to safe-keeping of priceless archives ought to make a deep impression on legislatures and custodians in other states. Although it is gratifying to learn that the Albany collection was not so completely destroyed as was at first supposed, nevertheless what has been saved is but a fraction of what the state possessed. A detailed statement, made from data kindly furnished by the archivist, Mr. A. J. F. van Laer, may be of use to investigators. It is reported that in all about 20,000 colonial and state documents have been recovered in a fairly good state of preservation. The highest percentage of salvage has been in the group of Dutch manuscripts relating to the period 1630-1664, 22 of the 23 volumes being saved. These include the council minutes, dating from 1636, most of the correspondence of the director-general, 1638-1655, and most also of the Delaware papers. The Dutch patents, 1636-1649, 1654-1664, escaped, but the Usselinx manuscripts, 1606-1646, were lost. Of the 80 volumes of other so-called "Colonial Manuscripts" 47 appear to have been saved. Fortunately many of the more important of these papers have been printed. Of the 28 volumes of council minutes, 1668-1678, 1683-1776, 20 volumes escaped, while ten volumes of executive records, 1664-1712, are almost a total loss. Of this material the legislative minutes of the council, 1691-1775, had been printed. Two of the most important personal groups of papers, the Sir William Johnson manuscripts (26 volumes) and the George Clinton papers (52 volumes) suffered even more severely, only four volumes of the former and ten of the latter collection being saved. The Johnson papers have been calendared and the first 16 volumes of the Clinton papers have been printed, although in a very inaccurate text. The minutes and papers of the provincial congress, etc., 1775-1778 (in all 38 volumes), for the most part perished, although portions of some volumes were saved in fairly good condition. These manuscripts have largely been printed. Of the 44 volumes of assembly papers, 1777-1830, only about 20 survived. Out of 55 volumes of papers relating to the Revolutionary War (1775-1800) the contents of about 20 volumes were saved, while of 13 volumes of senate papers (1777-1803) only parts of five volumes survive. The minutes of the commissioners for detecting conspiracies, 1778-1781, likewise perished; the material is, however, well preserved in the excellent text of Mr. Paltsits. Out of 250 volumes of Henry Stevens papers (relating to the French and Indian War, the Vermont controversy, etc.) about 60 volumes have been saved, for the most part in excellent condition. Among the numerous losses may be mentioned the collection of colonial laws, 1691-1725, a mass of legislative papers dating from 1778, the assembly journals for the years 1699, 1700, 1740, 1766-1767, eleven volumes of land patents, 1680-1775, about 30 volumes of commissions, warrants, etc., and many other groups of papers. Most of the copies from foreign archives perished. Some papers escaped by virtue of being in a safe. Among them are the collection of autographs of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, the Washington relics, the Duke's Laws, and Dongan's Laws. The proceedings of the Albany committee of correspondence, 1775-1778, were saved by being at the time in the office of the state historian. The Tompkins papers (36 volumes) are almost a total loss, only portions of ten or more volumes having survived. The most valuable part of the recently acquired Rensselaerswyck manuscripts, namely, the long series of Dutch letters, was practically all destroyed. Some of the materials of the collection that escaped are some early Dutch account books, the court record for 1648-1652, and some letter-books, 1643-1648, and 1661-1674. The great mass of unbound legislative files, 1777-1910, is practically a total loss, but the records of the War of 1812 (25 volumes, unbound) were all saved.

Mr. Victor H. Paltsits has for four years rendered distinguished services to the state of New York in the office of state historian, which he has elevated to a high plane and dignified with several admirable publications, models of governmental historical work. Governor Dix has, however, declined to reappoint him and has given the office to Mr. James A. Holden of Glens Falls, editor of a local newspaper. Mr. Holden's qualifications for a post which historical scholars must regard as highly important remain to be discovered; but he is entitled to be judged by his fruits.

The New York Historical Society has acquired a collection of thirty-eight manuscripts relating to Benedict Arnold, four of which are letters written by Arnold. In the collection are letters of Washington, Lafayette, Steuben, Robert Morris, Silas Deane, General Henry Knox, General William Heath, and others.

The Report for 1910 of the commissioner of records of Kings County, New York, contains a brief statement of what has been accomplished among the records under his jurisdiction, brief inventories of some of the records of the county, and some unsatisfactory facsimiles.

An interesting feature of the January number of the Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography is a series of gossip letters of a French officer, written from Easton, Pennsylvania, in 1777 and 1778. The letters were intercepted by a British cruiser and were recently discovered among the records of the High Court of Admiralty in London. This issue of the Magazine contains also a letter (April 2, 1797) from Washington to General Henry Lee, one from John Greenwood, dentist, to Washington, written in December, 1798, some extracts from the journal of Surgeon Ebenezer Elmer of the New Jersey Continental line, September 11-19, 1777, and a letter of Joseph Russell, written from Boston in May, 1776, describing conditions in the city. General Muhlenberg's orderly book, 1777, is continued.

The Maryland Historical Magazine for March contains an account of the "First Free School in Queen Anne's County", by Edwin H. Brown; "Baltimore in 1846", a paper read before the society in 1875 by Henry Stockbridge; and lists of colonial militia, 1740, 1748. The most important document in this number of the Magazine is a secret letter of Admiral Cockburn to Sir A. Cochrane, July 17, 1814, setting forth a plan for capturing Washington and Baltimore. The letter is among the Cockburn papers recently acquired by the Library of Congress.

Mr. Oswald Tilghman of Easton, Maryland, plans to publish a History of Talbot County, Maryland, 1661-1861, in two volumes, to be compiled principally from the voluminous materials left by Dr. S. A. Harrison, who devoted a long life to the history of the locality.

The Virginia Historical Society has recently received the gift of about 65 large-scale maps of counties and sections of Virginia, prepared in 1862-1864 under the orders of Major-General J. F. Gilmer, chief of the engineering bureau, C. S. A. The maps give very detailed information, including names of owners of farms and the like, and are of high value for the study of the Civil War in Virginia. They were presented to the society by Mrs. Minis of Savannah, daughter of General Gilmer.

The Virginia Magazine of History and Biography begins in its April issue the printing of the minutes of the council and general court of Virginia from the originals in the Library of Congress, the period covered by this installment being 1622-1624. The editor of the Magazine supplies a valuable prefatory note, eleven pages in extent. An item from the Randolph manuscript is the commission of the general court, October 3, 1685. Among the "Miscellaneous Colonial Documents" are a writ for election of a member of the convention, December 6, 1775; instructions of the Fairfax County committee to their delegates in the convention, December 9, 1775; an advertisement by the agent of the Transylvania Company, December 1, 1775; and a petition of the inhabitants of Frederick County and others to the westward of the Blue Ridge, presented to the convention on December 20, 1775. Another valuable document is Colonel Scarborough's account of his efforts to suppress the Quakers in what is now a part of Maryland, then claimed by Virginia. The report, once before printed but not now easily accessible, is from the records of Accomac County and is contributed by Thomas B. Robertson of Eastville, Virginia.

In the April number of the William and Mary College Quarterly Historical Magazine appears the third of the series of papers on the "Leadership of Virginia in the War of the Revolution", the first of which appeared in the issue for January, 1910. The writer brings the treatment down to 1776, discussing events as they revolve about the several crises, that of the "circulars", the affair of the Gaspee, the Boston Port Bill, and Independence. Mr. A. J. Morrison contributes an interesting account of the Virginia Literary and Evangelical Magazine, 1818-1828, describing the principal contents of the issues.

Mr. J. C. Wise has brought out through the Bell Book and Stationery Company of Richmond The Early History of the Eastern Shore of Virginia, a careful study of the institutions and social and economic conditions of that part of Virginia now comprised in the counties of Northampton and Accomac, from the earliest settlements by whites to the end of the seventeenth century.

The South Carolina Historical and Genealogical Magazine prints in the April issue an installment of the journal kept by Major John F. Grimké during the expedition conducted by General Robert Howe against the British on St. Mary's in Florida, May to July, 1778. Continuing his studies of the baronies of South Carolina, Mr. H. A. M. Smith gives a history of Wadboo barony. The "Register of the Independent or Congregational (Circular) Church, 1732-1738", prepared for publication by Miss Mabel L. Webber, and the "Abstracts from the Records of the Court of Ordinary of the Province of South Carolina, 1700-1712", by Mr. A. S. Salley, Jr., are continued.

Books relating to the History of Georgia in the Library of Wymberley Jones De Renne, of Wormsloe, Isle of Hope, Chatham County, Georgia, compiled by Oscar Wegelin, has been privately printed in a limited edition. The book is a handsome quarto of 268, xviii, pages, with facsimiles, and forms a remarkable guide to Georgia bibliography.

Volume XI. of the Publications of the Mississippi Historical Society is announced for distribution as this journal goes to press. The volume contains two valuable contributions by Professor Franklin L. Riley, namely, "The Mississippi River as a Political Factor in American History" and "Location of the Water Boundary between Mississippi and Louisiana"; papers upon two Mississippi thoroughfares of historical importance, the Natchez Trace and Jackson's Military Road; also articles dealing with "The Mahew Mission to the Choctaws" and "The French Trading Post and the Chocchuma Village in East Mississippi", and six useful studies of reconstruction in Mississippi counties.

Mr. T. M. Marshall contributes to the April number of the Quarterly of the Texas State Historical Association a paper upon the Southwestern Boundary of Texas, 1821-1840, and Mr. E. W. Winkler an account of "Some Historical Activities of the Texas Library and Historical Commission". Other articles are: "Life of A. Horton and Early Settlement of San Augustine County", an autobiographical sketch by Alexander Horton; and "Micajah Autry, a Soldier of the Alamo", by Adèle B. Looscan.

The University of Texas has received from Mr. Guy S. Bryan, jr., of Houston and Mrs. Emmett L. Perry of Bay City additional papers of Stephen F. Austin and the papers of Colonel Anthony Butler, chargé d'affaires of the United States at the City of Mexico from 1829 to 1836. The Butler papers include numerous original letters, only copies of which exist elsewhere, and some letters of importance not elsewhere found. There are nineteen letters of President Jackson.

Mr. George Bird Grinnell's Trails of the Pathfinders (Scribner) is now out. The book tells the stories of the more important explorers of the West.

The Mississippi Valley Historical Association held its annual meeting at Chicago and Evanston on May 17, 18, 19, and 20 in conjunction with the State Historical Society of Illinois and the North Central History Teachers' Association. The following were some of the papers and addresses: C. B. Coleman, "The Development of the Illinois State Constitutions"; F. I. Herriott, "Massachusetts, the Germans, and the Chicago Convention of 1860"; I. P. Wharton, "Abraham Lincoln's Early Connection with the Republican Party"; William E. Dodd, "Robert J. Walker, Imperialist"; M. M. Quaife, "Some Notes on the Fort Dearborn Massacre"; A. B. Hulbert, "A Comparison of some of the Source Material on Braddock's Campaign"; R. B. Way, "The Mississippi Valley and Internal Improvements, 1825-1840"; O. N. Carter, "Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas as Lawyers". There were also a number of conferences and discussions.

The January-March number of the Quarterly Publication of the Historical and Philosophical Society of Ohio comprises a translation from the Welsh of the Rev. B. W. Chidlaw's pamphlet Yr American, published in 1840. The title-page of the translation is: The American: which contains Notes of a Journey from the Ohio Valley to Wales, a View of the State of Ohio, a History of Welsh Settlements in America, Instructions to Enquirers, before the Journey, on the Journey, and in the Country. The pamphlet was prepared to furnish guidance to Welsh people emigrating to America.

The legislature of Indiana has passed an act providing for the initial steps toward erecting a building which shall house the state library and museum and also the educational offices of the state. It is designed that this building shall be erected as a "permanent memorial for the centennial of Indiana's statehood", and the act constitutes the Indiana Centennial Commission to formulate the plans for the building and to select a site. Meanwhile Professor Harlow Lindley has investigated the condition of the state and local archives and has strongly recommended that provision be made for the permanent and proper housing of the state's records, and that all documents, both state and local, which are not in current use be placed under the care of the department of archives and history.

Mr. H. P. Comstock contributes to the March number of the Indiana Quarterly Magazine of History a brief history of canals in Indiana, and Mr. George S. Cottman, using the caption "History to Order", writes a note concerning the quick-process production of local histories for commercial purposes.

The trustees of the Illinois State Historical Library have appropriated money for the editing of a volume containing material upon the fur trade in Illinois during the years 1783 to 1830. The editorial work will be entrusted to Professor Clarence W. Alvord and Mr. Solon J. Buck of the University of Illinois. It is expected that the first volume of the George Rogers Clark Papers (volume VIII. of the Collections), edited by Professor James A. James, will go to press within a few weeks.

The Journal of the Illinois State Historical Society includes in its April issue a biographical sketch and estimate, by Frank E. Stevens, of Alexander Pope Field, active in Illinois politics for about twenty years from 1822, later for several years in St. Louis, and from about 1857 to his death, in 1876, in New Orleans; a brief account, by J. W. Templeton, of the life and services of General Thomas J. Henderson, member of Congress from Illinois, 1875-1895; a paper entitled "The Burial and Resurrection of Black Hawk", by Dr. J. F. Snyder; and an appreciation, by William R. Sandham, of Hon. James H. Miller, "to whose initiative and labors in the Illinois general assembly must be largely credited the creation of the Illinois State Historical Library".

A History of Stephenson County, Illinois, by A. L. Fulwider, has been published in Chicago by S. J. Clarke.

Mr. A. C. Quisenberry writes for the May number of the Register of the Kentucky State Historical Society a sketch of General Zachary Taylor and the Mexican War and appends a roster of Kentuckians who served as officers in the war.

The governor of Michigan has unexpectedly vetoed the entire appropriation made by unanimous vote of both houses of the legislature for carrying on during the next two years the work of the Michigan Pioneer and Historical Society.

Mr. Kenneth W. Colgrove contributes to the April number of the Iowa Journal of History and Politics another of his investigations of "The Attitude of Congress toward the Pioneers of the West", earlier mention of which appeared in the issue of this journal for April, 1910

(p. 700). The present paper deals with the relations between the pioneers and the Indians in the period 1820-1850 and occupies 107 pages of the Journal. In the same issue Mr. C. R. Aurner describes at length "The Establishment and Organization of Townships in Johnson County". The article is accompanied by well executed maps.

The Missouri Historical Review for January contains the second paper of Judge John F. Philips on "Administrations of Missouri Governors", the subject of this article being Governor Willard Preble Hall. Rev. Joseph H. Schmidt contributes "Recollections of the First Catholic Mission Work in Central Missouri", and Professor E. M. Violette a paper on the battle of Kirksville, August 6, 1862. In the April number Professor F. H. Hodder has a valuable article entitled "Side Lights on the Missouri Compromise", Mr. T. J. Bryant contributes another paper on "Bryant's Station and its Founder, William Bryant", and Mr. Joab Spencer gives a sketch of "John Clark, Pioneer Preacher and Founder of Methodism in Missouri".

The legislature of Arkansas has appropriated $5000 for the maintenance of the Arkansas History Commission. The commission will employ a salaried secretary who will devote his entire time to the work, entering upon his duties July 1. The legislature has also provided that the publications of the Arkansas Historical Association shall be a permanent charge on the printing fund of the state.

The Quarterly Journal of the University of North Dakota, the first number of which appeared in October, 1910, prints in its January number an instructive article by Professor O. G. Libby upon "The Correlation of Literature and History", and one by A. A. Bruce entitled "An Unwritten Chapter in the History of South Africa".

The Documentary History of the Rio Grande Pueblos of New Mexico, by Adolph F. Bandelier, is no. 13 of the Papers of the School of American Archaeology. The "Bibliographic Introduction" has been issued separately.

Acquisition of Oregon and the long suppressed Evidence about Marcus Whitman, in two volumes, by Principal William I. Marshall of Chicago, has been published in Seattle by Lowman and Hanford Company.

Mr. Irving B. Richman's California under Spain and Mexico, in the preparation of which the author has utilized much material not hitherto drawn upon, has appeared (Houghton).

The American Book Company has issued Public Education in California: its Origin and Development, with personal Reminiscences of half a Century, by John Swett.

Number 6 of the Publications of Canadian Archives is a Rapport sur les Archives de France relatives à l'Histoire du Canada by Mr. J.-Edmond Roy (Ottawa, 1911, pp. iv, 1093), which upon hasty preliminary examination appears to cover in great detail the materials respecting Canadian history in the French archives, or, at all events, those portions of them which previous lists and Canadian official searches have brought to light.

The Ontario Bureau of Archives has in the press a volume on the Huron village sites associated with the missionary operations of the Jesuit fathers in the territory known to students of Indian lore as Huronia. The author is the Rev. Father Arthur E. Jones, S.J., F.R.C.S., whose labors in this branch of research have been long continued and exhaustive. Another interesting work announced by Mr. Alexander Fraser, the archivist, is the publication shortly of the Journals of the House of Assembly of Upper Canada from 1792 to 1804, now only available in manuscript. Those for the years 1795, 1796, and 1797 are missing. This will probably be the first of a series of volumes bringing the publication down to 1824, from which year printed journals are extant. The material thus to be given to the public will be of the greatest possible value to the official and student world as well as of wide general interest.

Noteworthy articles in periodicals: Ch. de la Roncière, Une Carte Française encore inconnue du Nouveau Monde (Bibliothèque de l'école des Chartes, LXXI. 5-6); Ch. de la Roncière, Un Atlas inconnu de la Dernière Expédition de Drake (Bulletin de Géographie Historique, 1909, 3); E. S. Maclay, A Sea View of our Revolution (United States Naval Institute Proceedings, March); W. E. Dodd, John Taylor "of Caroline" (The Nation, March 30); C. O. Paullin, Early Naval Voyages to the Orient, XI. The Voyages to Japan of Commodore Biddle and Commander Glynn, 1846, 1849 (United States Naval Institute Proceedings, March); Edward S. Corwin, The Doctrine of Due Process of Law before the Civil War (Harvard Law Review, March, April); Colonel John S. Mosby, Personal Recollections of General Lee (Munsey's Magazine, April); Mrs. Burton Harrison, Recollections, Grave and Gay, IV., V., VI., VII., VIII. (Scribner's Magazine, April, May); Frank J. Cannon, Under the Prophet in Utah, IV., V., VI. (Everybody's Magazine, March, April, May); C.-Philippe Choquette, Le Séminaire de Saint-Hyacinthe et les Événements de 1837-1838 (Revue Canadienne, May); José M. Calleja, Historia de Santiago de Cuba (Revista Bimestre Cubana, March-April); P. Migüélez, La Independencia de México, VIII., IX., X., XI. (La Ciudad de Dios, February 20, March 5, 20, April 5).